Frank Lloyd Wright: Design/Method/Theory

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Anthony Alofsin
TIME AND PLACE: 2:00-5:00pm. Tuesday Location: WMB 4.118
Course Unique Numbers: ARC 342D (00810), ARC395D (01235)

Prerequisites
Open to students throughout the university. Upper division standing for undergraduates and graduate enrollment for others. It is preferable to have a background in the history of modern architecture and completion of survey courses I and II in the School of Architecture, but not required. This course is not intended to fulfill the University’s undergraduate writing component.

Course Format
There are many ways to look at the history of architecture. This lecture course is intended use the work of Frank Lloyd Wright to explore his designs, methods, and the theories supporting them. While the course includes a broad over of Frank Lloyd Wright’s work, it focuses on analysis of his designs and ideas. Students will obtain a familiarity with Wright's work, an introduction to concepts of organic design, and a synthetic definition of architectural modernism. The themes of the course will be explored through a series of analytical exercises. Examples of organic architecture by other architects may also be considered as variation interpretations of organic design. Requirements and evaluation may change as a function of the availability of graders or Teaching Assistants.

Educational Objectives
Using the lens of historical inquiry into architecture, this course also intends to train students in fundamental skills of critical thinking, writing, and speaking. It seeks to present a monographic, analytical approach to the work of a major cultural figure and the phenomenon of modernism; to develop effective skills of analysis through writing, oral, and visual communication; to consider and analyze different viewpoints represented in diverse cultural and historic contexts; and to gain a greater appreciation of the role of architecture in the formation of regional, natural and global identity.

Evaluation
Grades will be based on three assignments(90%) and class attendance and participation (10%)
Details of assignments will be posted on the course Canvas site. In the case of group projects, students should discuss any particular concerns about credit for work with the instructor during the semester. Occasional quizzes may be given to test specific knowledge. Note: assignments and lectures may change depending upon course size, support via a Teaching Assistant, or changes by the Instructor that reflect lines of thought arising from lectures and class discussions. Pluses and minus may be used with letter grades as permitted by University rules.
No make-ups of exams or quizzes will be given; a grade of 0 will be entered for a missed exam that is not excused by an official dean's or physician's letter. Papers submitted late will receive a reduction of one letter grade per day late. Attendance at all classes is required. Missing three classes results in an automatic deduction of one letter grade.

EVALUATION CRITERIA
Establishing grades for projects of a creative nature is more complex than grading in other academic areas. While each project contains certain quantifiable elements by which it may be evaluated, a significant portion of each grade is derived from a broader, more subjective set of issues: grasping the ideas and understanding of the project at hand, combined with an appropriate process of inquiry; process: the consistent and rigorous development and testing of ideas; resolution: the demonstration of competence, completeness, and finesse through representation.

A student must earn a grade of C or better in order for the course to count toward the degree, and to progress to the next studio in the School of Architecture. A grade of C- will not satisfy degree requirements or prerequisites for the design studios that follow.

GRADE DESCRIPTIONS

A/A- Excellent
Project surpasses expectations in terms of inventiveness, appropriateness, visual language, conceptual rigor, craft, and personal development. Student pursues concepts and techniques above and beyond what is discussed in class. Project is complete on all levels.

B+/B/B- Above Average
Project is thorough, well presented, diligently pursued, and successfully completed. Student pursues ideas and suggestions presented in class and puts in effort to resolve required projects. Project is complete on all levels and demonstrates potential for excellence.

C+/C Average
Project meets the minimum requirements. Suggestions made in class and not pursued with dedication and rigor. Project is incomplete in one or more areas.

C-/D+/D/D- Poor
Project is incomplete. Basic grasp of skill is lacking, visual clarity or logic of presentation are not level-appropriate. Student does not demonstrate the required competence and knowledge base.

F Fail
Project is unresolved. Minimum objectives are not met. Performance is not acceptable. Note that this grade will be assigned when you have excessive unexcused absences.

X Excused Incomplete
Can be given only for legitimate reasons of illness or family emergency. Simply not completing work on time is not an adequate cause for assigning this evaluation. It may only be used after consultation with the Associate Deans' offices and with an agreement as to a new completion date. Work must be completed before the second week of the next semester in which you are enrolling, according to the School of Architecture policy.

Sections:
If sections are supported for this course, small group discussions will focus on reviewing lecture content and reading assignments. Exercises will include sections dividing into teams to debate contrasting positions reflecting differing positions concerning architectural production and divergent cultural viewpoints.

Assignments and Papers:
All assignments must be submitted on or before due dates. Any late assignment will be reduced one letter grade per day of delay. The only excuse for a late assignment is illness confirmed by a physician's letter or dean’s letter. Instructions on the format of papers will be discussed in class and included in the course assignments folder on Canvas. Any student taking the course credit/no-credit will receive a failing grade if he or she does not complete the course requirements by the assigned dates. Pay special attention to instructions on the medium for submitting your work. If hard copy printouts are required, then a digital submission is not acceptable; sometimes both may be required. Submit papers as double-spaced single sided text with page numbers.

Lecture etiquette:
No food or eating in class. Classes start promptly at the designated; do not arrive late as often important announcements occur at the beginning of class.

COMPUTER USEAGE IN CLASS:
CELL PHONES AND SIMILAR DEVICES ARE NOT ALLOWED DURING LECTURES. Texting, work on other courses, email, or anything else except careful listening and note taking for this course is not a good use of your time and suggests that you may not only be failing to take advantage of lectures, but you may also be distracting other students. Please respect this course requirement. The instructor recommends that you listen, take written notes, and after class review and revise your notes.

Special accommodations:
At the beginning of the semester, students with disabilities who need special accommodations should notify the instructor by presenting a letter prepared by the Services for Students with Disabilities Office. To ensure that the most appropriate accommodations can be provided, students should contact the Division of Diversity and Community Engagement, Services for Students with Disabilities, 512-471-6259, http://www.utexas.edu/diversity/ddce/ssd/

Religious holidays:
By UT Austin policy, you must notify the instructor of your pending absence at least fourteen days prior to the date of observance of a religious holy day. If you must miss a class, an examination, a work assignment, or a project in order to observe a religious holy day, you will be given an opportunity to complete the missed work within a reasonable time after the absence.
Honor code and plagiarism:
The core values of the University of Texas at Austin are learning, discovery, freedom, leadership, individual opportunity, and responsibility. Each member of the University is expected to uphold these values through integrity, honesty, trust, fairness, and respect toward peers and community. Academic dishonesty, which includes plagiarism, is a serious offense at the University and subject to disciplinary action. For the University’s definitions and policies about academic dishonesty, see the Registrar’s rules Sec. 11-802, http://registrar.utexas.edu/catalogs/gi0910/app/gi09.appc03.html. If you have any questions about citations or the appropriate use of materials, please contact your instructor.

Emergency situation:
Please familiarize yourself with recommendations regarding emergency evacuation. For questions contact the Office of Campus Safety and Security, 512-471-5767 and review material on the Office’s website: UT Safety, or http://www.utexas.edu/safety/.
